Rhubarb Whiskey Announces Release of Second Full-Length Album, Same Sad End!

Bay Area alt-american group Rhubarb Whiskey announced the 2013 release of their latest album, Same Sad End. This self-released 12-track masterpiece, the band's second full-length effort, showcases Rhubarb Whiskey's unforgettable patchwork of country, murder ballads, punk rock and drinking songs. Same Sad End has garnered rave reviews since its original debut in January 2013:

Like the glow of neon of the last open bar 'Same Sad End' draws you in...

...I love this refreshing blend of punk, country, old timey, a smattering of bluegrass, a little blues, gypsy, even some 'cowboy' music and probably more that I'm struggling to discern!

Tracks from Same Sad End were featured on KALX radio's 'The Next Big Thing', and have been in rotation ever since.

About the band:

Rhubarb Whiskey formed in 2008 by Emchy and Boylamayka Sazerac, two veterans of the SF Bay Area punk rock scene. With Emchy on accordion and vocals, and Boylamayka on acoustic guitar, the pair began writing songs that combined a dizzying variety of musical and stylistic influences, from German cabaret to blues and folk and beyond. In 2010 the band was joined by Sizzle le Fey on fiddle. The trio quickly developed a reputation as hard-drinking, full throttle troubadours who infuse traditional forms of music with the cathartic energy of their punk roots. The band released a self-titled CD EP in 2010, followed by their first full length album, Cautionary Tales, in 2011.

Their music has been referred to as the anti-prohibition, hellbilly goth, the bluegrass Dresden Dolls, and the fortunate love child of Bill Monroe and Sid Vicious. With delicious harmonies and heartbreakingly raw storytelling, Rhubarb Whiskey continues to seduce the audience with atmospheric, literate, romantic drinking songs that are sexy, rugged and furiously alive.

Rhubarb Whiskey has played all over the Bay Area, at DNA Lounge, the Swedish American Music Hall, El Rio, The Sunshine Artisan Factory, Starry Plough, and more, and shared stages with Unwoman, Geoff Berner, Sour Mash Hug Band, The Billy Boys, Bye Bye Blackbirds, T&A, Mars Arizona, Liquor Cake, 5 Cent Coffee, Plasterkatz, Vagabondage, Oakland Wine Drinkers Union, Victoria & The Vaudevillians, and many others.

Throughout the year, the band will be appearing on-air at several Bay Area radio stations and at select live performances to be announced.
